Roy Webb of Englewood won his first "big cup" by defeating George H. Barnes of Apawamis by 7 up and 6 to play in the 36 hole final of the spring invitation tournament over the links of the Garden City Golf Club yesterday. At one time during the forenoon it looked like Barnes, as the veteran stood 5 up. Just when everything was going his way he "blew up," so to speak. The other man took courage when the tide began to set in his direction and commenced playing fine golf.
After pulling out from a seemingly honeless position to an advantage of 1 up in the morning Webb soon had command of the situation when they got going again of the situation when they got going again after luncheon. The only hole Barnes won in the latter half was the fourth, where Webb got into trouble on his drive. It was a case of youth against middle age, and the longer the match progressed the better the boy became. An illustra-tion of this is the fact that Webb came hotre in the morning in 37 and went out in the afternoon in 39. When the match ended on the twelfth green Webb's card showed only two over fours. # RACING PONIES DRAWN Society Out in Force to See the Eligibles for $5,000 Race Distributed.

On the grounds of the Piping Rock Club society speculated in horseflesh yesterday in an entirely new fashion. Sixty-nine ponies, subscribed for mostly by members Barnes and Webb both beyond the green, of the Long Island hunting set, were but a better chip back supplemented by a drawn for by lot, and though none looked as though he would train on into another as though he would train on into another Sysonby, yet the lucky person that has pulled the best one out of the grab bag will be richer by $5,000 when the race for which the ponies are eligible is held in the fall.

Thomas Hitchcock and Joseph E. Davis are credited with devising this new form of sport, and the Piping Rock members,

The first event decided was the hand in The first event decided was the hand in hand ride around obstacles. There were so many entries that preliminary heats had to be run. Most of the contestants were mounted on the green ponies and the fun was fast and furious from the start. Miss Helen Hitchcock and Harry W. Smith were getting along famously until return trip and this gave the prize to Miss Randolph and Thomas Hitchcock. Jr. There was a surprise in store for the admirers of Miss Randolph, whose reputation as a jockey is firmly established, and the sister of her previous partner provided it. After climinating a big field in the bending race, which was for subscription ponies only, four fine riders met on well matched ponies in the final. Miss Helen Hitchcock was mounted on J. R. Thomas's pony. No. 33, while J. E. Davis rode his own prize pony. Miss Randolph was mounted as before and was the favorite. It was nip and tuck between the two young girls all the way and a little petulant chuckle escaped from Miss Randolph as Miss Hitchcock led her over the finish line by half a length.

The green pomes had to show that they knew what hurdles were for in the egg and spoon race, and only a few proved adept over the brush. As the riders tried to lift them over the little jumps and at the same time retain the egg in the tablespoon, there were all kinds of ludicrous situations and the crowd roared as one after the other of the dummy eggs rolled to the ground.

Perfect weather and a card of excellence attracted more than 2,000 persons to the Plainfield Driving Park yesterday, the occasion being the annual race meeting occasion being the annual race meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club. The half mile track was in apple pie order and the paddock, under shady trees, was the meeting place under shady trees, was the meeting place. Professionals who bet on races were there too, but for a time they were extremely cautious because of the presence of several busy persons who wore metal badges on their coat lapels and said they were minions of the law. At one stage of the game it looked as if there might be some friction, but after hunting in vain for evidence of bookmaking the busy ones decided to with-draw. After that speculation became briske and everybody except those who fell for The defeat of Henry W. Warner's Nosegay in the Oak Tree Purse was a pitfall for the unwary, also a big disappointment for Mr. E. C. Cowdin, 2d, who had the leg up. The distance was one mile on the flat and Nosegay, a son of Nasturtium, for whom the C. Whitney once paid $50,000, was FOR AT PIPING ROCK a prohibitive favorite. The horses were sent away by Starter J. H. McAvoy, and promptly H. A. Bourne's Blundara, a son of the famous Irish Lad, rushed to the front. He had Mr. Alpers in the saddle and received a magnificent ride. Close behind were Nosegay and Archibald Barkbehind were Nosegay and Archibald Barklie's Delphie, an Atheling mare, with Mr.

Cotober 12, the first day of the Piping Rock race meet. The Hon. Townsend Scudder drew the only mare in the consignment. He went off immediately to east his judicial eyes over the clean limbed brown pony that fell to his share. H. P. Whitney got the chestnut gelding. No. 25. and Mrs. Payne Whitney's name was the next to appear with the black gelding. No. 26 as her prize. C. K. G. Billings drew a black on; and the spectators wondered whether he would break it to the trotting gait.

"You may see some fun now," said Mr. Cravath, "for though those ponies are broken they come from the Western plains and have never seen woods like these before." The spice of danger only added to the interest in the gymkhana events for which the ponies were at once got ready. Saddles and bridles had been brought was astride of J. S. # WORTH WINS IN THE STRETCH.

Beats Daval by a Nose in Kentucky Derby at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.-Worth, favorite for the Kentucky Derby run at Churchill Downs to-day, managed to nose Duval in a terrific stretch struggle last-ing nearly a quarter of a mile. The vicing nearly a quarter of a mile. The victory of Worth was due to the fine ride put up by Jockey Shilling. Worth was a 4 to 5 shot in the betting.

Shilling broke Worth off in front and sent him right along, attempting to steal away from his field. He succeeded for a while, but as the field swung into the stretch Duval came up with a rush and if he had a stronger rider up would have beaten the favorite, as Shilling lifted Worth home in the last stride. The summaries.

The addition of Princeton and Brown would give the league a membership of eight universities—Columbia, Harvard, Princeton, Brown, Yale, Cornell, Haverford and Pennsylvania.

The manner of computing the league standing and the project of limiting the number of substitutes were among the subjects discussed and Yale was officially declared the winner of the 1912 championship, just concluded. The date for the beginning of next year's competition was set at March 15, and the meeting adjourned with the election of the following officers: Allan Shelden, Yale, '13, president; H. S. Kneedler, Jr., Pennsylvania, '14, vice-president; R. H. Sinclair, Columbia, '13, secretary and treasurer.

The plan proposed by Columbia of holding the games in the fall rather than the spring met opposition at the meeting, it was finally voted down, Haverford and the University of Pennsylvania came out strong against the change.

Columbia-Naval Academy Crews to Try Again To-morrow.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 11 .-- High winds ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 11.—High winds and rough water made it necessary to postpone the Naval Academy-Columbia boat race scheduled to be rowed on the Severn this afternoon.

The Columbia management telegraphed to the Faculty, asking permission to remain at Annapolis and row on Monday. This could not be obtained, the idea of rowing on Monday has been given up.

The start of the race was fixed for 4 o'clock, but at that time the condition of the water made it impossible to row the race. A postponement was ordered until half past five, but at that time conditions had not improved and the idea of rowing to-day was abandoned.
